IT in the digital age

Date	22. 10. 2019, 9:00-10:30
Location	KPMG, Pobřežní 648/1A, Prague 8
Price	Free

A breakfast meeting featuring a presentation on the new role of IT, and the results of the KPMG CIO Survey 2019 .

You are cordially invited to a discussion breakfast on the topic of IT's function in the digital age. It is evident that IT has become a part of business. So what will be left for CIOs?

The results of the Harvey Nash/KPMG CIO Survey 2019 serve to define the new role of IT. More than 3,600 respondents from among CIOs and technology executives, including you and your colleagues in the Czech Republic, responded to this internationally largest IT leadership survey.

At the breakfast, we will focus, among other things, on the change of the IT function and the new role of CIOs as digital leaders. We will present Connected Enterprise, a digital firm concept supported by Forrester research. We will discuss the new, agile IT management model with integrated security features (Secure DevOps) and advanced approaches to automation, business and artificial Intelligence.

The breakfast meeting will be hosted by Ondřej Jaroš, former senior vice president of ČEZ ICT Services and current head of KPMG's Technology team; Tomáš Kudělka, former director of the global IT operations centre at Diebold Nixdorf and current head of KPMG's Cybersecurity team; and Martin Hladík, Partner in charge of KPMG's Technology team.

For further information contact us on akce@kpmg.cz.